Converging Cyber, Information Operations and Electronic Warfare conference held

The Palmetto Roost Chapter of the Association of Old Crows (AOC), in conjunction with SPAWARSYSCEN-ATLANTIC, presented the Converging Cyber, Information Operations and Electronic Warfare Conference November 29 - December 1 at SSC Atlantic's Cooper River Landing Conference Center in Charleston. The theme of the conference was "How Will the Complexity of the 21st Century Operational Environment Drive Cyber, Electronic Warfare and Information Operations Convergence in the 21st Century?"

Approximately 200 military members, government employees and contractors attended the CLASSIFIED conference, which is the second annual event held in Charleston.

Executive Director Christopher Miller kicked off the conference and Commanding Officer Capt. Mark Glover introduced the SSC Atlantic session. Center employees Jessica Reno, Samuel Yaryan, Jeff Bullock and Jeff Scaparra presented briefs. David Walman, chapter vice president, and Mike Shafer, SSC Atlantic's Intelligence, Surveillance and Reconnaissance/Information Operations (code 5.6) Competency Lead and local AOC chapter industry advisor, emceed the third day of the conference. In addition, a number of high-level officials from various government agencies briefed attendees on SECRET and TOP SECRET subjects during the event.

The AOC is a not-for-profit international professional association engaged in the science of electronic warfare, information operations and cyber security. Conference profits fund scholarships and grants for military personnel and undergraduate students in electrical engineering, physics, mathematics and related disciplines.

Government and contractor personnel at all SSC Atlantic locations are invited to attend AOC meetings near their sites.
